I have some steps to improve students' writing skills in my class. First, in pairs, I encourage students to talk freely about a social topic like environmental problems that they have read about in class. Second, I'd give students time to try writing their thoughts and ideas with reasons about it, using expressions they have learned. Later, they can arrange their writing in logical order and make whole sentences. Finally, in pairs, students read each other's writing, ask and answer questions about what they wrote, and offer comments or suggestions. Thus, these steps would make students see their strengths and weaknesses, and increase their writing skills.(106words)
