

Festivals

All over Japan, many towns and villages hold traditional festivals. Many people like to travel to see those festivals. Some people like to enjoy eating the local food. In some festivals, many people wear special costumes and dance together. For most people, festivals are good chances to have a wonderful time.